How is interest calculated?

We use the daily simple interest method to calculate interest. That means, interest accrues everyday on the principal balance that is outstanding and you only pay interest for the number of days that your Loan is outstanding. Below we explain how certain payments will affect your Monthly Payment, the amount of interest that you pay and the amount of your Final Payment. Capitalized terms have the same meaning as in your Installment Loan Agreement.

If you pay late, pay less than your amount due or miss a payment, you will pay more interest and your Final Payment will be larger as a result. In addition, failure to make payments in full and on time may result in an event of default under your Agreement. Also, late payments, partial payments or missed payments may be reflected on your credit report.

If you pay early or you pay more than your amount due, you will pay less interest and your Final Payment will be reduced as a result.

You must satisfy your monthly payment during your Payment Period. If you pay more than your monthly payment in any Payment Period the excess amount will not be applied to any subsequent payments.

Payments we receive on or before 5:00 pm E.T. will be credited to your Loan as of that day. Payments received after 5:00 pm E.T. will be credited to your Loan on the next day. We reserve the right to reject any payments that are not made in accordance with your Agreement or instructions that we provide.

Permission to Convert Checks to Electronic Fund Transfers: When you provide a check as payment, you authorize us either to use information from your check to make a one-time electronic fund transfer from your account or to process the payment as a check transaction.
